

POLITICIANS RECEIVE BIGGEST PAY RISE IN 10 YEARS

as cost of living pressures
hit every day Aussies

Prime Minister Anthony Albanese and his MPs smiling about their pay increase

Just one month after being sworn in our new Federal politicians are set to receive a 2.75% pay rise. Prime Minister Anthony Albanese will now be taking home a whopping $564,364 and the average pay for a backbench MP will be $217,060. This increase comes as the cost of living soars for Australians, with the Reserve Bank of Australia (RBA) expected to continue raising interest rates to match inflation.

- $2.00Lt for Fuel
- $10 lettuce
- Median rents for residential have jumped by 30 per cent in the 12 months to April.
- Thousands of front-line workers are unable to return to work since choosing not to get vaccinated.
- Many families now live in tents or in their cars.

Email your federal MP or write to your local newspaper.
Let them know this pay increase is a kick in the guts.
